Not illustrated. 1918 Excerpt: . . . is this for the purpose of knowing whether it is a better plan than the present one Chairman Howe: There is a possibility of requiring it to be done; yes, sir. Mr. Miller: I think it would be a mistake. Chairman Howe: Those using it think not. Those that have tried it think it saves the county money. But we wanted a free discussion. We would like to hear from any one on the proposition. Experience is a sure guide. Those who have tried it all say that they would not go back to the old plan for any reason. You have heard them say it here. It ought to be done in the interest of the state. Mr. Valentine, Montgomery county: It was my understanding last night, when I took the opposite view of the proposition, that the object of this was to get the average value of each of the different classes of property according to school districts. I now understand (Mr. Kincaid corrected my impression on that) that this is merely to get at the total value of each class of property. That puts an entirely different light on it, and for my part I would not object to that. Another way I look at this: any information that the Tax Commission feels that it is necessary to have, I feel like it does not make any difference how much work is required, that is what we ought to do. I do not...
