A Sunday Law is to be submitted by initiative to the voters of California next November. It is not drafted to shut theaters and to suppress Sunday sports, but will close, if adopted, 2100 saloons in San Francisco alone, and almost all stores and places of business. It will stop the greater part of Sunday work. The barbers are actively promoting the measure. Calvary Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, has opened a room in its church edifice where men working on buildings in the neighborhood can come in to eat their midday lunch. Coffee is served by church ladies, and reading matter is at hand. Faith Church, Baltimore, has a Brotherhood Committee which acts as an employment agency. In five years it has secured, without charge, positions for 1600 men. The church is open two nights in the week to receive applications. Methodist Social Settlements in the South are called Wesley Houses. A successful one at Biloxi, Miss., ministers to the workers in eight oyster canning factories, five of which are the largest in the world. The Settlement provides night schools, sewing classes and a Sunday school for the children employed in the factories. The Living Church illustrates the extent of the Slavic invasion of the United States by the case of an Eastern Orthodox Church in Passaic, N. J. This holds 4500 people, and on last Easter it was so crowded that worshipers knelt in the streets two blocks away. In the same city are...
